Early returns suggest that we were correct about days gone by – it’s a fact that during the 18th and 19th centuries, whist was a mighty popular game – but incorrect about modern times: There appear to be a lot of modern whist players, and plenty of other gaming enthusiasts who are interested.

Which brings us to an intriguing possibility. Should the Green Bag host a World Series of Whist? Please let us know what you think. Send messages to editors@greenbag.org. Thank you again.
